TN government cancels 12th class state board examination: CM

8:53 PM · Jun 5, 2021 · PTI_Tweets

Directorate of Government Examinations, Tamil Nadu has decided to cancel the 12th exams in 2021. Now, that the exams have been cancelled, the Tamil Nadu board will set up a committee to take a decision on the evaluation criteria for class XII state board students. The decision to cancel the Tamil Nadu XIIth examinations was made due to an exponential rise in the number of infection cases in several parts of the state. For the other classes, the exams have also been cancelled and the marks from previous years will be used as admission criteria. However, in the case that too many applications are made, the authorities are considering testing when the schools reopen.

Our director in India, has informed us that the vocational training centre we support may reopen in the first week of July 2021, we are waiting for confirmation from the indian authorities. In the meantime, the director and staff have started coming to the training center this week.

As far as the schools are concerned, we have also asked the teachers to prepare for a possible reopening for classes IX to XII. In the meantime, our staff is looking after the campuses.
